SUMMARY SHEET

Letter from Bernard Collorafi to McDonald's regional management — 16 December 1996

Overview: letter from Bernard Collorafi addressed to Isabelle Kuster, regional management of McDonald's France in Aix-en-Provence, following a meeting on 13 December.

Key points

Collorafi confirms his application for the future Antibes Ouest restaurant, due to open a few months later. He stresses the impact of this opening on his existing establishments, the shopping centre restaurant and the drive-through on the route de Grasse, as Antibes Ouest is located in the town from which most of his customers come, a clientele built up over ten years, and close to a planned expressway. He gives forecast turnover figures for 1997 of 13 MF for the shopping centre and 16 MF for the drive-through, recalls that the forecast announced in 1987 was 19 MF, and reports a 35% decline at the shopping centre restaurant linked to the neighbouring openings. He announces that he is sending a file to Denis Hennequin and asking to meet him to discuss expansion in Antibes.

Significance

This correspondence illustrates, before the litigation, the franchisee's warnings about the effects of new establishments in his catchment area.
