SUMMARY SHEET

Letter from Bernard Collorafi to his counsel — 27 January 1997

Overview: letter sent by Bernard Collorafi to Maître Jean-Paul Clément, counsel in Paris, reporting an incident which he considers should be added to the file of the dispute with McDonald's.

Key points

Collorafi states that he received from McDonald's an invoice dated 20 December 1996, concerning SARL B et O (Drive restaurant). According to the attached invoice, it amounts to 250,000 F excl. VAT, plus VAT, i.e. a total of about 301,500 F incl. VAT; the body of the letter mentions a similar amount. It is said to be the re-invoicing of a box rental service paid by McDonald's to Olympique d'Antibes Basket (invoice of 18 December 1995). Collorafi states that he never took part in this negotiation or signed a purchase order, and recalls that the company B et O was only created on 21 August 1996, its operation having started on 9 October 1996. He sees it as an attempt at intimidation, or even fraud, and states that he has stopped payment with his bank.

Significance

The document, with its annexes (invoice of 20 December 1996 and letter of 19 November 1996), documents a point of financial friction predating the breakdown and intended for later use in the proceedings.
